All Boys' Suits and Half Price

Shoes for Your Boy
Shoes for Your Girl
And The Smaller Kiddies

IT IS really wonderful how our business in children's shoes is growing. Still it is really not so wonderful after all when you take into consideration that we carry one of the largest and most complete lines of children's shoes in the Southwest. Added to this, we are just as careful—if not more so—about fitting the children's feet as we are with older persons. If you have never had the children fitted here, let their next pair of shoes be the H-U kind.

Prices Range $1.00 to $3.00
(According to size.)

MAY EXHUME BODY OF ALFRED ORNER

If Woman Is Tried on Indictment Charging Murder of Husband, Analysis Probably Will Be Made.

In the event that Mrs. Agnes Orner is brought to trial on the indictment charging her with the death of her husband, Alfred Orner, the body of her late husband will probably be exhumed. Although the body has laid in the grave in the Masonic cemetery for the past four years, physicians say it will be possible to make a chemical analysis of it and ascertain if any arsenic was in the system. No arsenic was used in the embalming and therefore traces of it can be found if they exist, they say. It is understood that if the state does not voluntarily take this step, the exhuming will require the exhumation of the body and have a chemical analysis made. It is contended that this is the only way that proof can be obtained.

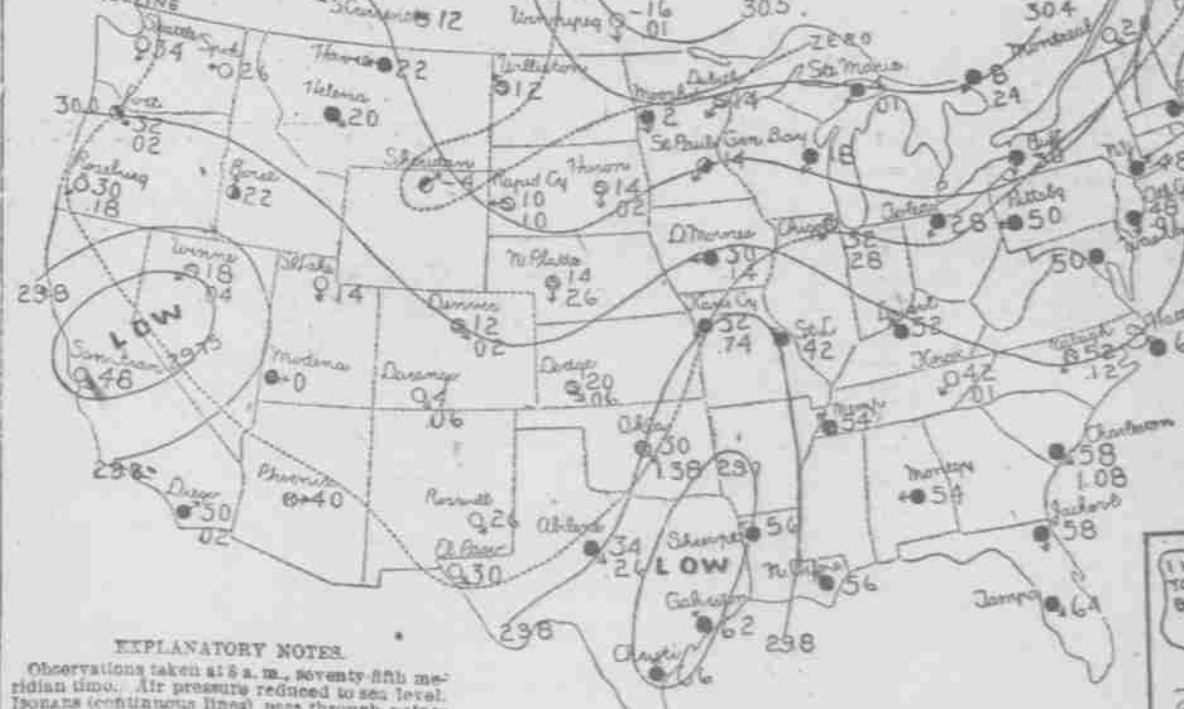

If any exists, of Alfred Orner having died from poisoning. While no action may be taken in the matter until Mrs. Orner is arraigned on the indictment charging her with this offense, yet it is possible that the body may be exhumed and analyzed before she is tried for the fifth time on the charge of having poisoned her daughter, Lillie Orner.

HORSES TRAMPLE KANGAROO TO DEATH

The big kangaroo at the Campbell shows was trampled to death this morning by the draft horses belonging to the show. When the big engine was started up, the horses, many of them new, became frightened and stampeded, trampling the kangaroo to death. It is the same animal that broke out of the winter quarters the other day and gave its keepers a chase over a good portion of the town.

GETTING FRUIT MEN TOGETHER

Organization Formed for Marketing Products of Truck and Fruit Men

At a meeting of the New Mexico West Texas Fruit and Truck Growers' association yesterday, H. F. Kerr, of the El Paso Bank & Trust company, was elected president, J. G. Stewart, of Mesilla Park, was elected vice president, and P. F. Brinck, of the firm of Lee D. Martin company, was elected secretary and treasurer.

Lee D. Martin was appointed general sales agent. This association was organized and created for the fruit and truck growers of New Mexico and west Texas, and is meeting with great success from every locality, as the growers fully realize the necessity of creating a market for their products. So far the association has signed up 100 cars of pineapples, 50 cars of onions and 100,000 boxes of apples, together with other vegetables and produce, such as cabbage and turnips.

This promises to be the most beneficial organization for the farmers and fruit growers of this section of the country, that has ever been organized in the west, and will encourage the farmers of the valley to develop it, as they will now have a market and outlet for their products, which heretofore they did not have.

Lee D. Martin, the organizer, will visit Alamogordo on March 5, and Tularosa on the following day, to bring the truck and fruit growers into line in these sections.

CONVICT BURKE SUE FOR DIVORCE; BIGAMY CHARGED

Alleging that her husband had another wife living from whom he had not been divorced at the time he married her, Halle Geneva Burke, Thursday afternoon filed a petition in district court asking that Robert J. Burke, alias John C. Burke, the husband, be declared a bigamist and charged with bigamy. The latter charge was dismissed. The plaintiff, her petition alleges, that her husband was married to Anita Taboas, in San Francisco, Cal., on Sept. 17, 1908.

JURY SELECTED FOR ROSS TRIAL

Twelfth Member is Accepted Friday Morning and Hearing Begins.

Starting at two o'clock Friday afternoon, the life and liberty of L. E. Ross, formerly connected with the United States government in the selection of the jury, later an employee of the Mexican government, and then a detective resting in the hands of a jury in the 12th district court, before which he was on trial on a charge of robbery by the use of firearms in connection with the alleged holdup in the Hotel McCoy on the morning of January 14. The offense with which Ross stands charged is carrying with him the death penalty, although in the examination of those summoned for jurors the question as to whether or not any had scruples against the infliction of that penalty was not asked.

G. W. Ledbetter, an automobile repairer, was accepted by both the state and the defense at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, making the 12th man. This was the first one called out of the venire of 25 men ordered by Judge Dan M. Jenkins Thursday afternoon after the case had been exhausted. H. W. Elam, a farmer of Clint, Texas, chosen after three o'clock Thursday afternoon, was the 13th juror.

For the trial of the case a total of 275 men had been summoned by the sheriff's department. In the selection of the jury the defense used 13 peremptory challenges and the state five.

Personnel of Jury

The jury as selected is: S. J. Ferrer, C. H. Schwabach, K. E. Nold, C. W. Ardoin, Sam Crawford, V. E. Koenig, A. Holt, T. S. Draper, W. T. Duncan, James Buchanan, H. W. Elam, G. W. Ledbetter.

Asks Continuance

At 10:34 o'clock Friday morning the jury was sworn in by Judge Jackson, and district attorney W. W. Bridges started reading the indictment against the defendant, when John T. Hill, one of the attorneys for the defense, interrupted to file a motion for a continuance, on the grounds of the illness of Mrs. Hill. Mr. Hill was not present Thursday during the selection of the jury. Following the filing of the motion for a continuance, the jury was retired, and Mr. Hill was placed on the stand by Judge Jackson. In answer to the questions asked him by Judge Jackson, the attorney stated that Mrs. Hill's condition had been serious, she having suffered an attack of tonsillitis, although she had no temperature and was not delirious. He said that he would be able to establish telephonic communications with Mrs. Hill. The attorney stated that on account of the condition of Mrs. Hill, he felt that he would be handicapped in the case. His motion for a continuance was overruled. Charles Owens, assisting Mr. Hill in the defense, then made a motion for the postponement of the case until Saturday morning, stating as his grounds that he had not had sufficient time in which to familiarize himself with the case. He also said that he had not had opportunity to talk to the witnesses. District attorney Bridges agreed to postpone the case until two o'clock Friday afternoon. Judge Jackson gave the defense until that time to get ready for trial.
